Putting people into agtech

Putting People into Agtech

Growing an agriculture or agtech business is hard work.

Avoid flying solo and make AgRecruit your talent acquisition partner.

For your first employee, or your 10,001st, our service remains constant: at your side, speaking your language, fighting to secure the talent that's right for you.

Today, everyone claims a niche. Or a specialism.

But few have a claim as valid as ours: we close the gap between the worlds of agriculture and technology. A 'foot in both camps' approach.

Whether a dedicated agtech start-up or an established company with an exciting tech proposition, finding the right talent sometimes means stepping outside the usual agricultural boundaries and into the Wild West of the wider talent market.

Here is where the best and brightest candidates are found. Except you'll be fighting for this talent against the likes of medtech, fintech, proptech, regtech, edtech, cleantech...

...but with AgRecruit at your side, we'll fight your corner. For you. For your business. For your success. No-one else reaches more of the right candidates.

AgRecruit repeatedly finds the best candidates from the tech and agricultural sectors for its clients:

- Commercial and Leadership (up to C Level) roles, often requiring agri-sector expertise
- STEM roles, covering the likes of software, data, AI, numerous engineering disciplines, the sciences...whatever the role, we can help you lure the sought-after agri-specialists or those from other sectors
- Product specialists, project managers and other essential posts
- A multitude of sometimes weird, always wonderful roles that – in a fast-moving sector like agtech – didn't exist last week
- And if you're unsure about a role? We can help you with that, too – just ask!

Of course, AgRecruit fights candidates' corners too. If you're in tech or agriculture and looking for a career move or a new role, we're here to help and advise. A recent candidate had this to say:

“Sam has been nothing short of brilliant through my period of unemployment. From the get-go, he orchestrated a fine recruitment process that has resulted in my successful employment with a dream company. Thank you, Sam, for your hard work and diligence. I can't recommend you highly enough for anyone looking to make their way in the agricultural industry.”

“Sam and his team at AgRecruit have been an important partner in our growth as a business, seeking out deep and relevant experience from other industries and bringing these into the agrifood sector. Key to this has been AgRecruit's ability to really understand our ethos and culture.”

Benjamin Turner, COO at Agrimetrics

Needing to recruit, but not sure where to start?

AgRecruit is ready to help. We know how important it is to prepare for this journey, which is why we created the AgTech Recruitment Roadmap™.

A free service from AgRecruit, the Roadmap will help you find your way in recruitment, start to finish. A complete set of Waypoints to guide you in building and developing your Recruitment Strategy, we can provide input and assistance to help you find your best route to individual Waypoints. Or you can use us as your trusty co-driver for the whole journey.

Complete the Roadmap...and you'll be ready to put the right people where they belong – in your agtech business.

- Consider each Waypoint individually and in context
- Start the journey anywhere
- Make it the work of one person, or many – if you have others already in your team, could their skills or knowledge help navigate individual Waypoints?

Tick off all the Waypoints on the AgTech Recruitment Roadmap™ and you're ready to recruit!

“Sam helped us fill a very senior, pivotal role. Our experience with him was excellent. He showed genuine interest, quickly understood our requirements, and provided high quality candidates within days. We had received a high volume of applications but eventually it was thanks to Sam that we found the right fit.”
